Part II Organizational Action Attach additional statements if needed. See back of form for additional questions.

14 Describe the organizational action and, if applicable, the date of the action or the date against which shareholders' ownership is measured for the action ▶ On September 28, 2023, Curis, Inc. effected a 1-for-20 reverse stock split of its issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock ("Reverse Stock Split"). As a result of the Reverse Stock Split, every twenty shares of Common Stock issued and outstanding was converted into one share of Common Stock. No fractional shares were issued. Stockholders entitled to receive a fractional share as a result of the Reverse Stock Split, received such fractional share rounded up to the nearest whole share. No cash was paid in lieu of fractional shares. Trading of the Common Stock on a Reverse Stock Split-adjusted basis began on September 29, 2023.

15 Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis ▶ The Reverse Stock Split is intended to be treated as a recapitalization for U.S. Federal income tax purposes pursuant to Section 368(a)(1)(E). A U.S. stockholder's aggregate adjusted tax basis for shares of Common Stock received for the Reverse Stock Split should equal the aggregate adjusted tax basis of Common Stock surrendered, except for any fractional share rounded up to the nearest whole share. U.S. stockholders that acquired shares of Common Stock on different dates and at different prices should consult their tax advisors regarding the allocation of the tax basis and the holding period of such shares.

A U.S. stockholder who received a whole share of Common Stock in lieu of a fractional share may recognize income or gain in an amount not to exceed the excess of the fair market value of such share over the fair market value of the fractional share, and should consult their own tax advisor with respect to the computation of adjusted tax basis in the shares issued.

16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ▶ See Line 15 above.

18 Can any resulting loss be recognized? ▶ The Reverse Stock Split is intended to be treated as a recapitalization for U.S. Federal income tax purposes pursuant to Section 368(a)(1)(E). As a result, a U.S. stockholder generally should not recognize gain or loss upon the Reverse Stock Split, except with respect to any fractional share of Common Stock rounded up to the nearest whole share.

A U.S. stockholder who received a whole share of Common Stock in lieu of a fractional share may recognize income or gain in an amount not to exceed the excess of the fair market value of such share over the fair market value of the fractional share. U.S. stockholders should consult their own tax advisors to determine the tax consequences, including the computation of any gain or loss and effect on adjusted tax basis, of receiving a whole share in lieu of a fractional share in the Reverse Stock Split.
